ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Heartfelt thanks to Dr Abe Brafman for asking me to write this book and bearing with me with much patience. You have been a true facilitator to a journey that has had many twists and turns.

The encouragement and interest of friends has been vital, and I would like to thank Alison Adie, Hilda Brockbank, Julien Benhamou, Sheila Chait, Tony Fagin, Anne Hurry, Glenda Levin, Mike Lodrick, Norka Malberg, Hilda and Jonathan Matheson, Fran Michelman, Philip Stanbridge, and Eileen Wilkins.

I am grateful to colleagues who have allowed me to use vignettes. Special mention to Jennifer Johns, Tamsin Ford and Hazel Marsh.

A special thank you to Donald Campbell, who has been there through the twists and the turns.

Finally, to the children I have known as a therapist and as friends—thank you for letting me in to your worlds, and allowing me to join in some of your sense of discovery.

To C. C. R. B

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Jenny Davids trained as a clinical psychologist in Cape Town, where she worked as a research fellow in the Department of Psychology at the University of Cape Town. She then trained in child and adolescent psychoanalysis and psychotherapy at the Anna Freud Centre. She was a member of staff there for twenty years, enjoying clinical work and teaching. She also worked as a child and adolescent psychotherapist in the National Health Service, at the Middlesex hospital and in community paediatrics. She was a consultant child psychotherapist and clinical lead of a team for looked-after children in the South London and Maudsley Trust. She was a training supervisor for the Anna Freud Centre, and is a supervisor and teacher at the British Association of Psychotherapists. More recently, Jenny has developed her interest in adult work and completed her training in adult psychoanalysis at the Institute of Psychoanalysis. Currently, she is a member of the British Psychoanalytic Society and is in private practice in London, working with children, adolescents, and adults.
