About the Authors

Lisa Smith Arnold: Lisa Smith Arnold is an illustrator and painter who graduated from Syracuse University with a bachelor of fine arts degree and headed straight to New York City. She has worked for Conde Nast Publications and other fashion-oriented companies. As a result, most of her paintings still have that exaggerated fashion influence. She now lives in Westport, Connecticut, with her husband and three kids.

Marianne Egan: Marianne grew up outside of Chicago and earned her bachelor of arts degree in fashion design from the International Academy of Design & Technology in Chicago. She also earned a master of science degree in apparel design from Oregon State University, where she focused on couture construction and illustration.

Marianne has worked as a designer and freelance illustrator, and she currently teaches fashion illustration, computer design, and corset and strapless dressmaking full time at Oregon State University. Marianne also runs a small custom bridal business; you can visit her website at www.marianneegan.com.

When she is not chasing after her son, you can find Marianne tribal belly dancing, running, drawing, or glued to her sewing machine.

Dedications

From Lisa: I dedicate this book to my mom, Charlotte Smith. Thanks for being the first to encourage me and introduce me to the world of fashion.

From Marianne: This book is dedicated to my son, George. Be nice and do the right thing, my sweet boy.

This book is also dedicated to my amazing friends Lydia and Ashley. Lydia, your ability to love is matched by no other, and I could not be who I am without you. Ashley, you radiate strength and grace, and you know just when to bring a girl ice cream and wine when she can't get up from the kitchen floor. I am so blessed to have you both in my life.

Authors' Acknowledgments

From Lisa: Thanks to all at Wiley who were involved in this project.

From Marianne: I would like to thank the amazing staff at Wiley: Thanks go to developmental editor Sharon Perkins for making me laugh and putting up with me — you rock! I'd also like to thank senior project editor Vicki Adang for laughing at my sense of humor (and not requiring me to explain how to draw the meat dress) and senior copy editor Danielle Voirol (who has the steps down for the meat dress!). More thanks go to copy editor Jessica Smith for all her hard work and to technical editor Barbara Rhodes for all her time and edits over edits. To acquisitions editor Michael Lewis, thanks for not giving up on me and for convincing me to work with such amazing people! And thanks to everyone else who's been a part of bringing this book to life.

I would also like to thank my incomparably supportive loved ones, Juliette, Todd, Trevor, and Noel — without your support, this book would never have happened! Thank you, Ashley (thanks to you, there's one less truck on the road) and Travis, for just being you. Thanks to Lydia (cheers!), Eva, Ethan, and little Isaiah for all your sweet dancing moves! Thanks to my supermom running sistas, Kara, Tonya, and Kellie. To Jaimie, Morgan, and Tonja, thank you for all those late and middle-of-the-night phone calls. To my Wild Iris dancing sisters, Shellece, Erika, Carol, and Eva, thank you for keeping me moving. Thanks also to my supermom girlfriends who keep me going: Anne, Heidi, Wendy, Amy, Adrienne, Aylssa, Betsy, Claire, and anyone else I forgot.

Thanks so much to all my colleagues at Oregon State, especially Dr. Kathy Mullet and Dr. Leslie Davis Burns, who push me every day and refuse nothing but everything I can give. Thank you, Nate, for late night tacos!

Finally, I have to thank my family: Dad and Diana; Mom (kitchen gnome) and Steve (Team Steve!); my loving brother Matthew (Da Bears) and his brave wife, Jenny (for marrying into our crazy family and giving us little Alice, Bears fan in training); my dreamer sister Mollie (what a year!); my awesome brother Ryan; and my I-don't-mess-around sister Breanna. I love you all.
